20 YEARS' MUTUAL AID

BRITAIN AND U.S.S.R. SIGN NEW PACT

SECOND FRONT THIS YEAR IN EUROPE

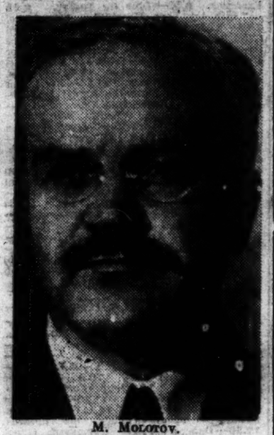
BRITAIN and U.S.S.R. have signed a twenty years' mutual aid pact confirming their alliance, and have reached "full understanding" on the urgent task of creating a second front in Europe this year.

No separate peace will be made with Germany without mutual consent.

Mr. Eden, Foreign Secretary, made this announcement in the House of Commons last night, and disclosed that M. Molotov had made secret journeys to London and Washington for discussions.

The Treaty provides for joint action in the war against Germany, for mutual assistance against any further attack by Germany or her associates after the war, and for post-war collaboration on Atlantic Charter principles. Both countries undertake not to seek territorial gains and to work together to organise security and economic prosperity in Europe.

The King has sent a message to M. Kalinin stating: "This Treaty consecrates the efforts of our two countries in the hard and bitter struggle they are waging, and pledges them to wholehearted, happy co-operation and mutual support in the years that will follow our victory."



M. Molotov.

M. MOLOTOV'S VISITS

"The House will remember," Mr. Eden said, "that Germany invaded Russia on the 22nd of June last year, and that on the same evening the Prime Minister affirmed that the Russian danger was our danger, and that we should give whatever help we could to Russia, and make common cause with the Russian people. Practical effect was given to the Prime Minister's declaration by the signing on the 12th of July of the agreement for joint action in the war against Germany. In September Lord Beaverbrook, with Mr. Averell Harriman, visited Moscow and negotiated an arrangement for supplying the Soviet Government with the war materials which they urgently needed for the prosecution of the war. This visit was followed, in the political field, by my visit to Moscow in December of last year. The purpose of that visit, in the words of the joint communiqué which was issued on my return, was the exchange to be found on questions relating to the conduct of the war and to post-war organisation of peace and security in Europe.

"Since then the conversations begun in Moscow have been continuing. The British Dominions, the United States and other countries most closely concerned have been kept fully informed of the whole course of our negotiations. When I was in Moscow I gave Mr. Molotov a cordial invitation to visit us in this country, and, when our discussions here had made sufficient progress, the Government suggested that Mr. Molotov should come to London to embody our agreement in a formal treaty. M. Molotov meanwhile had been invited by President Roosevelt to visit him in Washington. It was arranged accordingly that M. Molotov should come here, and then go to the United States. He arrived in London on May 21, and the Treaty was signed on May 26. The next day M. Molotov left for the United States, in accordance with his programme. I am glad to be able to tell the House that M. Molotov had a safe journey to the United States and back, and that he had most useful and satisfactory talks with the President in Washington. M. Molotov has now gone back to Moscow."

THE TREATY

Mr. Eden then gave a brief outline of the contents of the Treaty. The United Kingdom and the U.S.S.R. reaffirm their determination to afford one another all possible assistance in the war, and not to enter into any negotiations with the Hitlerite Government or any other Government in Germany—(cheers)—that does not clearly renounce all aggressive intentions, and not to negotiate or conclude, except by mutual consent, any armistice or peace treaty with Germany, or any other State associated with her in acts of aggression in Europe. The two countries also agree that they will, when peace is re-established, work together for the organisation of security and economic prosperity in Europe. In doing so they will take into account the interests of the united nations, and they undertake to be guided by the two principles of not seeking territorial aggrandisement for themselves, and of not interfering in the internal affairs of other States.

"The two Governments go on to declare their desire to unite with other like-minded States in adopting proposals for common action to preserve peace and resist aggression in the post-war period. Meanwhile, when the war is ended they will take (1) 'All the measures in their power to render impossible a repetition of aggression and violation of the peace by Germany or any of the States associated with her in acts of aggression in Europe.' There is, of course, bound to be some interval after the victory has been gained before an effective international system can be built up for preserving peace and for the prevention of further aggression. The two Governments accordingly have agreed that should one of our countries during the post-war period become involved in hostilities with Germany or any of her European associates in consequence of an attack by one of them the two Governments will at once give each other all the military and other support and assistance in their power. As for the duration of this undertaking I will quote from the relevant article of the Treaty:—

THE SECOND FRONT

"This article shall remain in force until the high contracting parties, by mutual agreement, shall recognise that it is superseded by the adoption of the proposals contemplated in Article 3, that is, a long term system of international security which the Treaty contemplates as our goal, which I have already mentioned." The article then goes on as follows:—"In the default of the adoption of such proposals it shall remain in force for a period of twenty years, and thereafter until terminated by either contracting party." The Treaty contains the ratification clause. Both Governments are anxious that the Treaty shall come into force as soon as possible. The Treaty, accordingly, will be laid forthwith on the table of the House. Our conversations with M. Molotov were not, of course, confined to treaty matters, important as they were. The war in all its aspects was reviewed, and I will now give the House a quotation from the communiqué which is being issued this afternoon.

"Full understanding was reached between the two parties with regard to the urgent tasks of creating the second front in Europe in 1942. Discussions also took place on the question of further improving the supplies of aeroplanes, tanks and other war material to be sent from Great Britain to the Soviet Union. Both sides were gratified to note the identity of their views on all the above questions. I am sure the House will join with me in welcoming the signature of this Treaty and the prospects which it opens up of active and fruitful co-operation in war and peace. From our long and friendly exchange of views with M. Molotov, we are sure that the Treaty expressed exactly the common desire of the two Governments.

POST-WAR PEACE

"We have been able to arrive at this happy result through establishing by our contact with M. Stalin and M. Molotov complete mutual confidence. This is the time to mention the valuable contribution to Anglo-Russian understanding over a long period of years. The signature of this Treaty not only formulates an emphasises the closeness of the collaboration between our two countries during the war, but it affords also an indispensable basis for European reconstruction. This does not mean that our two countries alone will be responsible for the peace of Europe when the war is won. It is a burden which will be shared by all the united nations.

"It means that without the closest understanding between Great Britain and the Soviet Union there can be no security and stability in Europe either for ourselves or any of our allies. The problems of peace, of course, are not for Europe alone, and I hope, with a sure confidence, that the good work which our two countries have accomplished will be welcomed by the President and people of the United States, and will enable our three countries to work together in the years of peace as now in the hard times of war."

NO SECRETS

Mr. Greenwood (Lab., Wakefield) asked Mr. Eden if he could assure the House and any suspicious persons outside whether in these negotiations any secret understanding had been made.

Mr. Eden—The whole of the terms of the agreement arrived at are published in the White Paper. There are no secret engagements or commitments of any kind whatsoever.

Mr. Lloyd George (L., Carnarvon Boroughs) said: "As one who had laboured for over twenty years" to establish a good understanding between Soviet Russia and this country, I felicitate the Prime Minister and the Foreign Secretary and the Government upon the accomplishment of this Treaty. Had it been a fact some years ago, many grave blunders in foreign policy would have been avoided, and not only that, but this war would never have occurred."

M. Maisky, Soviet Ambassador, and Mr. Winant, U.S. Ambassador, heard the announcement from the Distinguished Strangers' Gallery. Mr. Churchill and most of his Cabinet colleagues were on the Government Front Bench. Mrs. Churchill, Mrs. Eden and Mme. Maisky were among those in the Ladies' Gallery.

TREATY SPEECHES

In a speech at the signing of the Treaty, Mr. Eden, addressing M. Molotov, said: The Treaty which we have just signed engages us to continue the struggle together until the victory be won. On behalf of my colleagues, I give you the pledge that there will be no wavering in this endeavour on the part of the Government or people of these islands. Such, then, is the first chapter of our task, the overthrow of Hitler, and the destruction of all that his régime stands for. But there is a second chapter also to our Treaty. One day the war will end. One day the common enemy will be defeated, and there will be peace again. We must see to it that this time peace endures. In the Treaty which we have signed we pledge ourselves to work together for this purpose.

Never before in the history of our two countries has our association been so close or our mutual pledge for the future so complete. Part of the work is behind us. But the greater part yet lies ahead. There is the war to win. There is the peace to build. Neither of these tasks is for ourselves alone. Upon the co-operation of the Soviet Union, the United States of America and the British Commonwealth the future of mankind will largely depend.

M. MOLOTOV'S REPLY

M. Molotov replying, described the Treaty as "an important political landmark in the development of relations between the two countries. Our Treaty is indispensable in order the more quickly to ensure the destruction of Hitlerite Germany and to attain our desired aim—victory."

Referring to Germany and her Allies in Europe, M Molotov said: "They will now feel more than ever that the united forces of their adversaries have been rallied and strengthened. So much the better for us, for our peoples, for our common cause. Such a Treaty will be welcomed with great satisfaction by the masses of the Soviet Union, where, under the direction of their great leader and supreme commander, J. V. Stalin, the Red Army is carrying on a heroic struggle against the German invaders, confident in the belief that the time is not far distant when our just cause will achieve full victory."

Why are CLARKS SANDALS so difficult to buy?
We are making hundreds of pairs of Sandals a week —and every pair goes to a retail shop. Why then, when you ask for Clarks Sandals are you usually told "We're out of stock"?
The reason is that Clarks Sandals have increased enormously in popularity and we are very seriously restricted in the amount of leather we can use. At the moment it will take us over six weeks to catch up with orders now on our books and every day more orders roll in.
Please don't blame us or your local shop if you have to wait for Clarks Sandals or even if you can't get them at all—it is not anybody's fault—it is the war.

PRAGUE EXECUTIONS

Prague radio announced the execution of 34 people in Prague and Brno yesterday. They included ten women. Total executions since the attack on Herr Heydrich number 340.

SEBASTOPOL HITS BACK

"A TOUGH NUT," SAYS BERLIN

MASSES of men, 'planes and guns with which Marshal von Manstein is hammering at the defences around Sebastopol appear to be making little impression. German claims that the outer fortifications have been penetrated have been refuted by Moscow Radio in a broadcast which indicates the offensive spirit of the garrison.

"Not only have all attacks been successfully repelled," it says, "but the defenders are frequently counter-attacking." A German comparison of the famous base with Malta, according to the Press Association and Reuter messages, describes it as a "tough nut"—with the added hint that, like the Mediterranean fortress, it may prove too tough to crack. Of General von Hoht's new attack on the Kharkov front—launched to dislodge the Red Army from the gains of its recent offensive—there is no further news. Timoshenko's recent drive left his troops strongly entrenched in a row of important positions which could be used for another powerful stroke at any time. It is this danger which General von Hoht has been ordered to remove.

London circles regard as "unreliable" the unconfirmed Vichy report, according to which German forces leapt the narrow Kerch Strait and gained a footing on the Caucasian mainland.

ATTACKS REPULSED

In the latest drives on Sebastopol Russian troops, it is claimed, repulsed seven attacks and killed a thousand Germans in one sector, and in another threw back an entire German division.

Soviet despatches acknowledged that the Luftwaffe had "a tremendous superiority in numbers" locally, but said that the defences were holding, despite the fact that several thousand bombs had been dropped at some points, says Associated Press.

German Radio last night claimed that further ground had been gained in very hard fighting at Sebastopol. "The enemy tried in vain to hold the German advance by numerous desperate counter-attacks," the radio added. Fires are said to be burning in military barracks and warehouses inside the city.—(Reuter.)

Soviet troops have broken into a large inhabited locality on the Kalinin front, says latest reports received from the front, quoted by Reuter. Fierce street fighting is in progress.—(Reuter.)

Heavy bombing and dive-bombing attacks on the southern front were announced by German Radio last night. Twenty-three tanks, twenty-eight guns, one armoured train and twelve 'planes were said to have been destroyed. In air combats the Germans claimed fifteen 'planes shot down.—(Reuter.)

The Soviet midnight communiqué says: "Nearly 15,000 German officers and men killed in three days on Sebastopol front.

"On the Sebastopol sector stubborn fighting continued. Our troops repulsed enemy attacks, and inflicted heavy losses on him. In three days' fighting alone the German Fascist troops lost nearly 15,000 officers and men in killed, over 50 tanks, and over 60 'planes.

WITHDRAWAL REPORT

The Germans have withdrawn from the Taman Peninsula (Caucasus) after a small-scale reconnaissance raid across the Kerch Straits, says a Reuter telegram from Vichy early this morning.

GREETINGS EXCHANGED

Mr. Churchill has sent a message to M. Stalin, saying: "Victory is ours." The message welcomes the new agreement, and says: "We are determined to act together, whatever the future may hold in store for us."

Replying, M. Molotov said: "I am sure that this Treaty will have a great significance in the future strengthening of relations between the Soviet Union and Great Britain, as also between our country and the United States of America, and will ensure the close collaboration of our countries after the victorious conclusion of the war."

"MR. BROWN"

M. MOLOTOV IN U.S.

M. Molotov's visit to President Roosevelt was a secret scrupulously guarded by the Press during his long journey home to Moscow, and nothing was published until yesterday, when news arrived in Washington that M. Molotov is safely back in Russia after his history-making discussions in London and Washington, says a Reute, telegram from New York. M. Molotov arrived from London in a four-engined Russian Army bomber on May 29 for a week's talks with President Roosevelt and other officials. While in Washington he was referred to by the White House staff and other officials "in the know" as "Mr. Prown." At the conclusion of the momentous discussions, M. Molotov left for London on June 4 in the same Russian bomber which had brought him.

CONGRESS PLEASED

The announcement that a decision has been taken on the opening-up of a second front against Germany was welcomed in Congress circles. Even former Isolationists are pleased at the decision.

Senator Nye, declaring his agreement, hoped that when America struck they would carry out "a smashing, decisive blow."

BELFAST LIBEL CLAIM

NOT IN NEED OF INQUIRY

When the £50,000 libel action against the Northern Whig newspaper for alleged libel in a leading article was resumed in Belfast High Court yesterday, Alderman F. W. Kennedy, one of the ten city councillors, each claiming £5,000 damages, said the charges made by the paper were without foundation. He denied in cross-examination that there was sufficient in the disclosures of the inspectors who conducted the inquiry into the affairs at the Municipal Sanatorium to warrant an investigation into the administration of the whole Corporation.

Alderman D. Lyle Hall, Deputy-Lord Mayor, said that the administration was conducted on party lines. The Nationalists, the Labour members and the Independents were combined to "worst lad" the Unionists. "They are out to 'blanket' us all the time. They would be poor politicians if they did not."

Councillor Kennedy Leacock, another plaintiff, said he had opposed the formation of a "Big Six" Reform Committee. He was willing to have an investigation into the working of any Committee on which he served.

The hearing was adjourned until to-day.

KILLARNEY U.D.C. DISSOLVED

The number of members of the Killarney Urban District Council capable of acting being less than the quorum for meetings of the Council, the Minister for Local Government and Public Health has made an Order removing the members of the Killarney Urban District Council from office, and appointing Mr. John Moran, Local Government Auditor, of Claremont, Ennis road, Limerick, to be Commissioner for the Council.

Mr. Moran has been acting as Commissioner for Listowel Urban District Council since 1935.

CLOTHES RATIONING

Seventy-eight Coupons May Be Used Now

Drapery Demonstration Plans Go Ahead

FOLLOWING numerous representations made to him, the Minister for Supplies has decided, it was announced last night, to increase the number of coupons available for the purchase of clothing, and remove restrictions in the Clothes Rationing Order relating to the use of the coupons.

Instead of fifty-two, every individual in the State will, as a result of the amendments, now be able to use 78 coupons, and purchase immediately, if it is so desired, clothes or materials to the value of that number.

Arrangements for the demonstration on Monday next, it is learned, are being made.

Control of Home Manufacture

The Government is taking steps to control the output of home manufacturers of fabrics and clothing so as to ensure that the limited supplies of raw materials available will be devoted mainly to the production of utility cloth, and clothing suitable for use by the mass of the community, rather than luxury fabrics and garments, purchasable only by a wealthy few.

"The decision to introduce clothes rationing," the Minister states, "was taken because of the steady worsening in the supply of raw materials for clothing manufacture, and it was decided that the time to introduce rationing was not when production had fallen to such a low level, but while there still were stocks of raw materials and finished goods available so that present supplies and supplies in prospect could be eked out over a longer period.

"In the present circumstances," he added, "rationing is necessary to ensure that every citizen will have opportunities of obtaining his due share of the available supply. If the market were left uncontrolled, the better-off section of the community, who could afford to buy in advance of their needs, would be in a position to secure an undue share of the available supplies, while the operation of a normal demand on reduced supplies would tend to inflate prices."

THREE PAGES

The modifications will extend to the first year of the operation of the scheme, and the additional coupons will be those on page 7 of the ration book, lettered C. All three pages of coupons, A, B and C can, therefore, be used immediately or at any time up till May 31st, 1943.

It is understood that, despite the amendments, the Drapers Chamber intend to proceed with protest plans.

Dealing with the cloth supply position, the Minister stated that in the year 1939 the imports of wool and wool derivatives, other than cloth, amounted to over 7½ million lbs., made up of raw wool, wool tops and yarns, and in the same year imports of woollen and worsted cloth totalled about 7½ million square yards. Neither raw wool nor wool tops were obtainable from external sources this year, and imports of yarn and cloth for a period of twelve months were not expected to amount to more than ten per cent. of 1939 imports.

"It is quite obvious," he said, "that the enormous deficiency in imports can be made up only in part from home production. The deficiency by weight in imports is probably from 12 to 14 million pounds. The home production of yarn, including production from imported raw wool and wool tops was only four-and-a-half million pounds in 1939. Difficulties of plant and the quality of Irish wool make it extremely unlikely that more than about half the equivalent of 1939 imports and home production could be provided from our own resources, even if existing combing and carding facilities were worked to the limit

REDUCTIONS

"The present rate of allocation of cotton yarn from Great Britain amounts to only about 12 per cent. of normal, and the allocation of piece goods to only 20 per cent. Supplies of rayon yarns and fabrics have been obtainable in considerable quantity up to the present, but the Minister has been advised quite recently to expect serious reductions in supplies. Supplies of linen and pure silk yarns and fabrics are practically unobtainable. The effect of the reductions in supplies will, so far as can be estimated, be to restrict home production of clothing to about 30 per cent. of normal. It is recognised that this reduction will not become immediately effective because of the extent to which stocks of raw materials may be held by manufacturers.

"In addition to rationing of purchases, the Minister for Supplies has taken steps designed to ensure that, so far as possible, the supply of fabrics will consist of materials in the lower price ranges, and that in this way the interests of the less well-off sections of the community will be safeguarded to the greatest extent practicable by restricting the natural tendency of traders to obtain goods of the more expensive classes, which would yield the higher profit margins.

"It is emphasised by the Minister that no class of yarn, cloth or wearing apparel other than those specifically exempted or not mentioned in the schedules to the Orde may be purchased without the surrender of coupons, and where a dash occurs in the tables setting out the value of the coupons it does not mean that the clothing indicated can be purchased without coupons, but that the number of coupons required is indicated elsewhere in the tables, or that the requirement is similar to the coupon value given in the adjoining column. Stockings, for instance, are rationed, whether they have been made from knitted fabric or knitted in the form of stockings.

Throughout yesterday a country-wide check on the operation of the scheme was being carried out by officers of the Department of Supplies, mainly with the object of ensuring that coupons were surrendered for goods, and also to ascertain any defects that might arise.

TO DEMONSTRATE

An alleged political aspect was dealt with yesterday by Mr. E. A. McGuire, acting chairman of the Drapers' Chamber of Trade, which is proceeding with plans for a demonstration against the scheme on Monday next. He denied the suggestion that their approach to the Opposition parties was a political move, and, observing that the Chamber included supporters of all the political parties, and that its actions were non-political, he recalled that their first action was to approach the Minister, then the Taoiseach, and then, after a period had elapsed, it was decided to state their case to the Opposition parties in the Dail. "This action," he said, "was no more taking part in party politics than was our approach to the members of the Government. I might add that all our actions have not produced one dissentient voice."

Foreshadowing dearer clothes, he said that to the extent that the Order would reduce the turnover to 20 or, at most, 25 per cent. of the normal, in the case of such distributing trades as would be able to carry on, rents, rates, insurance, bank interests, and so on, could be met only by increasing the rate of profit on such goods as could be sold under the rationing Order.

Replying to the Chamber's telegram requesting his intervention, Mr. de Valera stated: "The Minister for Supplies has indicated his readiness to nominate an Assistant Secretary of his Department to meet deputation and receive your representations for preliminary examination. This will have Minister's personal attention, and should, thereafter, a personal interview be desired, it can be arranged."

Ration cards issued to members of the Army have been recalled by the authorities, with, it is believed, a view to removing, or at least reducing, the number of coupons allowed in respect of clothing, having regard to the fact that since the emergency the Department of Defence has supplied officers and men living in barracks with uniform and equipment.

CORK'S PROTEST

As a protest against the Clothes Rationing Order the Cork branch of the Irish Union of Distributive Workers and Clerks has issued notices to all its members in the drapery houses in the city to cease work on Monday and participate in a protest demonstration through the city. A public meeting will subsequently be held, to which the Lord Mayor and other prominent citizens have been invited.

STATEMENT BY DRAPERS

The following statement was issued after a meeting last night of the Committee of the Drapers' Chamber of Trade:—

"The announcement that the Government have decided to increase the number of coupons to 78 and remove the absurd prohibition against the use of more than 26 coupons before October 1st, is welcome in so far as it is an admission that the provisions of the Rationing Order made by the Minister for Supplies only three days ago were wrong. In the opinion of the committee appointed by the meeting held by the Drapers' Chamber of Trade, the change made by the amended Order is only a palliative, and fails to meet the serious situation caused by the Minister's action. The original Order was made without consultation with the distributing trade, and without information as to the stocks held by them and as to their ability to meet the essential needs of the public. This was a serious blunder on the part of the Minister. He has followed it by another blunder in attempting to mend his hand again without consultation with representatives of the trades whose duty it is to supply the public and who have first-hand knowledge of the actual position.

"The members of the Drapers' Chamber of Trade know that the Rationing Order has created a serious economic crisis which cannot be met by half-measures or tinkering with a position which will result in very serious unemployment. They are convinced that representatives of the Chamber and of the other manufacturing and distributing organisations associated with them could in consultation devise a plan which would go a long way to meet the situation without unnecessary hardship on the public and without creating immediate unemployment.

"The Minister says that 'numerous representations were made to him.' We wonder from where. We are not aware that he saw representatives of any trade organisations affected by the Order. He refused to see representatives of the Chamber unless they would first see a civil servant and convey their views to him through this official. Surely in a democratic country this is an extraordinary position for an elected Minister to take. The Drapers' Chamber of Trade is not interested in party politics, nor in political moves which may confuse the public. It demands that the Minister should see the representatives appointed at the meeting of the Chamber and discuss with them the principles involved and the economic crisis caused by his Order. They are quite willing to meet officials afterwards and discuss the detailed working of any changes to which the Minister agreed in principle. In this attitude they have the support of distributors all over the country and of the trade unions which represent the employés generally."

MERCHANT SHIPS SUNK

A Washington message, quoted by Reuter, reports the U.S. Navy Department's announcement that a medium-sized U.S. merchant ship was sunk by shell-fire from a U-boat in the Atlantic and that the survivors were landed at an east coast port.

A New York message, also quoted by Reuter, reports the sinking of the 3,000-ton Swedish merchant ship, Varmdo, in the North Sea. Five of the crew were killed.

One of the survivors of the U.S. vessel said that the U-boat carried supplies originating from Brazil. After they had taken to the boats the submarine surfaced, distributing drinking water and gave navigating directions. Then it continued to shell the ship. Later it returned to the boats with an injured member of the ship's crew, who had been treated by the Germans. "The German commander turned him over to us," the survivor said. "He also gave us a can of soup and a can of coffee, which bore writing shewing that it came from Santos, Brazil."

GERMANS IN BIR HACHEIM

BIR HACHEIM has fallen, after determined resistance to intense attacks by General Rommel's forces extending over sixteen days.

Manned by de Gaullist forces, Bir Hacheim formed the strong point at the southernmost end of the broken British minefield line from Gazala.—(Press Association and Reuter.)

First news of Bir Hacheim's fall was given in the following German communiqué early yesterday:—

"In North Africa the fort of Bir Hacheim, the southern pillar of the British defensive system, was this morning taken by storm after several days of bitter resistance by the strong enemy units which had been encircled there."

The German news was followed last night by the British announcement:—

"On the orders of General Ritchie, the garrison of Bir Hacheim was withdrawn on the night of 10th/11th June. The De Gaullist troops of the garrison, under General Koenig, have for sixteen days fought off large-scale attacks by infantry, tanks and aircraft, and inflicted heavy losses on the Axis forces. They have played a vital part in upsetting the enemy's plans. Their magnificent fighting qualities have earned the admiration of the United Nations."

The first blow at Bir Hacheim was struck on May 26, when the tank battle increased in intensity north-east of this strong point, protecting the main Allied armoured forces, says the Press Association. On the following day General Bismarck used seventy tanks in an effort to clear the strong point, but failed. General Koening's garrison, supported by a small force of Indians, has been encircled. It has, none the less, inflicted many casualties and carried out numerous sorties.

As lately as last Sunday British supply lorries were arriving at the post, which stands on a four-mile-square plateau, amid a desert waste. The invaluable aid given to the garrison by the Royal Air Force was recognised by General Koenig.

Though the defence of this little well—it is not even a village—has balked so large in Libyan operations for the past fortnight, its possession helps the Germans only in removing a thorn in their present position. British mobile columns will continue to engage their lines of communication.

Another clash between Allied and Axis armoured formations facing each other in the desert battlefield at "Knightsbridge" is expected soon, according to news telegraphed last night from Cairo. Reuter's military correspondent points out that Bir Hacheim's strategic importance is small compared with the moral effect of its loss. The immediate effect is that it will relieve General Rommel's supply position, though to achieve this will have cost him dearly in men and material.

KNIGHTSBRIDGE NEXT

After the capture of Bir Hacheim it is obvious that General Rommel will concentrate his main forces in the zone just west of Knightsbridge, which he was unable to do while Bir Hacheim remained in Allied hands, says Reuter's military correspondent. It must be emphasized, that the de Gaullists were withdrawn at General Ritchie's orders, and undoubtedly by British tanks. This means that the garrison was able to leave in good order and take everything of military value. General Rommel spared neither men nor machines to capture the fort, and his losses must have been terrific. —(Reuter.)

CANAL TRANSPORT

GREATER USE DISCUSSED

An Taoiseach (Mr. de Valera) discussed yesterday with the Board of the Grand Canal Company and their staff the possibility of the greater use of the canal to meet some of the present transport difficulties, particularly in regard to the transport of turf from the Midlands to Dublin.

Mr. de Valera, who was accompanied by Dr. Hogan, Professor of Mechanical Engineering, University College, Dublin, and member of the Emergency Scientific Research Bureau, and by Mr. J. P. Candy, Chief Engineer to the Board of Works, was on a visit of inspection to the canal's headquarters at James's street. He was received by Mr. John McCann, chairman; Mr. E. Williams, Mr. W. C. Odlum, the Right Hon. James MacMahon, and Mr. M. P. Minch, directors, together with the general manager, secretary and chief engineer.

The party was shown maps and plans of the whole canal system and many interesting souvenirs, as well as the offices, stores and equipment of the company. Subsequently they saw a barge pass through the first lock at Kilmainham and noted the amount of water used and the time taken for each discharge.

Mr. de Valera expressed his pleasure at what he called a most informative and enjoyable visit to the historic establishment, which had been kept going as a paying concern through all the transport vicissitudes of a century and three-quarters.

COMMUNITY KITCHENS

DEMAND FOR OPENING

Agitating for the opening of the Dublin Corporation's community kitchens, poster parades and street meetings are still being held by the women's group which has been sponsoring the idea for several months. At last night's meeting, held at Pearse Buildings, Mrs. P. S. O'Hegarty was among those who addressed the mothers of the district, encouraging them to demand the immediate opening of the kitchens. Another meeting is to be held on next Thursday in Crumlin.

LORD MAYORALTY

Alderman P. S. Doyle, T.D., Lord Mayor of Dublin, was nominated yesterday by the Fine Gael Party for re-election to the Lord Mayoralty.

PETAIN PRAISES LAVAL

VICHY, Thursday.—"M. Laval and I are now marching hand in hand," Marshal Pétain declared at a French Legion dinner to-night. "Since M. Laval came into the Government," he added, "he is gaining everyone's confidence not only by his words, but by his acts. I am the first to set the example. There are no more clouds between us." M. POST OFFICE WAGES

WORKERS' UNION DEMAND

"If only a fraction of present-day expenditure was directed in peace time to constructive works it would have banished poverty, slums and unemployment for ever." This statement was made by Mr. M. W. Ruddy, chairman, at the opening of the annual delegate conference of the Post Office Workers' Union in Bray yesterday. Members of the union, he said, were behind the efforts to preserve the country's neutrality. In addition to the hundreds in the various Auxiliary Defence Services, over 300 were in the Regular Army. To an ordinary man it seemed extraordinary that the Government must needs approach a small group of private individuals for loans of money to carry out the work of the State—loans bearing a high rate of interest. It was clear that no real progress could be made towards abolishing the many social evils existing in their midst while this state of affairs was allowed to continue.

In the present chaotic conditions and scarcity of certain commodities, the poor were exposed to the fleecing methods of ruthless racketeers operating in the black market. Goods could be got if they had the money. Government regulations, he said, were almost openly flouted. It must be conceded that their rulers made an effort to control the situation, but a more vigorous method of inspection and prosecution of offenders was necessary. There were, of course, many firms and shopkeepers who observed the spirit of the rationing and price regulations, but there were the exceptions. It was the bounden duty of the appropriate Department to go out after these unscrupulous profiteers and stamp out this pernicious practice without mercy wherever it was discovered. Certain District Justices were doing their best to assist by inflicting heavy fines, but terms of imprisonment would be a more effective deterrent.

BONUS GRIEVANCE

Dealing with the Trade Union Act, the Chairman said that the Act must be viewed with suspicion. The bonus figure, he said, had been stabilised at 85, while to-day the official cost of living figure stood at 137. They would have no cause to grumble if the Government had implemented its promise to control prices. If this had been done the bonus machinery would be automatically stabilised, but prices continued to soar, and their wages remained pegged.

Mr. W. Norton, T.D., General Secretary, stated, in answer to a question on delays in obtaining uniforms and protective clothing, that there was a definite shortage of clothing and waterproof materials for protective clothing. As to the question whether postal officials would have to tender coupons for their uniforms, Mr. Norton said that, so far as he was aware, they would not. It was the duty of the Department to provide uniforms and other protective clothing. Dealing with the Trade Union Act, 1941, Mr. Norton said that the Act did not apply to them, and there was no obligation on the union to make a deposit with the High Court.

Resolutions were adopted demanding all-round increases in wages for Post Office workers, a five-day working week, and a more vigorous policy regarding arbitration for the Post Office Services.

The results of the elections for the National Executive were:—T. P. Keane, Hon. General Treasurer; Hon. Organising Secretary, P. J. Cairns; National Executive—M. H. Ruddy, D. Sayers, T. J. Moore, W. Bell, J. J. Sloan, P. Horan, L. De Paor, P. McCann, E. J. O'Flaherty, E. J. Bolger, J. Leahy.
The Conference adjourned until to-day.

METHODIST CHURCH

ANNUAL CONFERENCE

The annual Conference of the Methodist Church in Ireland met on Wednesday night in Belfast, the President, Rev. Walter Armstrong, presiding. Addresses were delivered by the President and the other representatives of the British Conference, the Rev. R. Gregory, D.Litt., LL.D., and the Rev. A. Stanley Leyland, M.A. A telegram from Lord Rochester, Vice-President of the British Conference, was read regretting his inability to attend the Conference. On the motion of the Rev. A. McCrea, M.A., a message of congratulation was sent to the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in connection with the commemoration of the tercentenary of the founding of the first Presbytery in Ireland.

The Conference resumed yesterday in Donegall square Church. The Rev. Beresford S. Lyons, Belfast, by a unanimous vote was elected Vice-President of the Conference and President of the Methodist Church in Ireland for the year beginning on 1st July. The Rev. W. E. Morley Thompson, of Cork, was re-elected Secretary of the Church, with the Rev. J. B. Jameson, the Rev. Albert Holland, and the Rev. S. E. McCaffrey as his assistants.

The business of the Home Mission Department was introduced by the officers, the Rev. John England, the Rev. James M. Alley, and Mr. T. St. John Bagnall. Circuit contributions showed an increase of £525. Grants amounting to over £12,000 were sanctioned for the circuits during the coming year. Mr. T. St. John Bagnall, who has completed his term of six years as Treasurer of the Home Mission Fund, was unanimously re-elected, and thanked the Conference. The Rev. G. A. Joynt, M.A., of Roscrea, was, by ballot, designated as President of the Methodist Church in Ireland for the year 1943-44.

CHORAL SOCIETY

If for nothing else, Varian's Choral Society deserve hearty congratulations for the way they carry on, despite all difficulties, and, as they showed in their concert at the Abbey Lecture Hall last night, there is much real merit in their singing. Under their conductor, Mr. Stan. O'Brien, they brought plenty of life and colour, as well as good, solid tone, to their part-songs, which embraced three groups. In Stanford's setting of "My Love's an Arbutus," and Sir Hugh Roberton's setting of the well-known "Eriskay Love Lilt" and "Turn Ye to Me" they were particularly effective, the standard of their work showing a great advance on last year. There was also some splendid choral singing by the Day School of Commerce Choir of the Rathmines Technical Institute, which under Mr. O'Brien won such success at the recent Feis Ceoil. Girls' trios from the same Institute were heard in part-songs in Irish. Solos were sung by Maire Nic Ghlinn and Desmond Fegan, and very artistic was the playing of a number of pieces by Miss Dorothy Clifton ('cellist), who is heard far too seldom on our concert platforms. Miss Julia Grey was a very helpful accompanist. Altogether an enjoyable night.

BULL WALL CONCERTS

At yesterday's meeting of the Dublin Port and Docks Board permission was granted to the Wayside Committee, St. Vincent de Paul Society, to hold amateur concerts on the Bull Wall during the Sunday evenings of next July, from 4 to 6, for the purpose of raising funds by collections.

A letter from the National Executive of the Irish Live-Stock Trade was referred to the Finance Committee. It stated that the shipping companies had placed an additional 6d. per head on cattle freights from Dublin, alleged to be an increase made in the Dublin port dues, and requested that some action should be taken by the board to ensure that increases in port dues should not be made the occasion by the carrying companies to increase their freights beyond what they might be entitled to do. Mr. T. O'Connor presided.

PUBLICITY CLUB

Belief in the necessity for a movement in the interests of organised advertising and all its kindred interests was expressed by Mr. L. C. Blennerhassett, honorary secretary of the Publicity Club of Ireland, at the annual general meeting and luncheon in Jury's Hotel, Dublin, yesterday. Mr. Blennerhassett added that the club was the channel through which this vital work could be best accomplished. They were now at the end of the third session, and could report successful social activities and a sound financial status, despite the present period of emergency.

The 1941-42 committee and council were re-elected without exception, and the following new members of the advertisers' section were elected:—Mr. J. MacNeill (Messrs. John Player and Sons, Ltd.); Mr. A. W. P. Mulligan (Messrs. Lyons and Co., Ltd.), and Mr. C. W. Chesson (Aspro, Ltd.); and in the advertising men's section, Mr. J. C. McConnell (Messrs. McConnell's Advertising Service, Ltd.), and Mr. B. O'Kennedy (Messrs. O'Kennedy, Brindley, Ltd.).

Mr. C. R. McConnell, chairman, who presided, said that they now had over one hundred members.

ABETTING CHARGE

Fred. Durham (61), Ard Lucain, Stillorgan, radio and cycle dealer, and Thomas Sweeney (37), 63 Howth road, motor engineer, were sent for trial to a Special Criminal Court by District Justice McCarthy, in the Dublin District Court yesterday, on charges of aiding and abetting another person to export a motor lorry from Eire to Northern Ireland.

DUBLIN FIRE

The popping of corks lead to the discovery of an outbreak of fire at the licensed premises of Messrs. Thomas Cox, 64 Charlemont street, off Harcourt road, at an early hour this morning. A section of the Dublin Fire Brigade from Tara street put out the fire before much damage was done.

STORE CATTLE SALES

Craigie Bros. had a large and good show of cattle at their sale on Wednesday last. With a full attendance of buyers present, trade was brisk throughout; but, with cattle now weighing well, prices per cwt. were on a slightly lower level, and an almost complete clearance was effected. Best bullocks ranged from £33 to £32 10/-; heifers from £25 10/- to £20; secondary and younger sorts £19 10/- to £8 10/-.

Sandy and Sons. — Large numbers, including excellent selection of aged bullocks and heifers. Good demand and complete clearance. Best bullocks £34 5/- to £26 (64/- to 58/- per cwt.), best heifers £25 to £20 (62/- to 56/-), many other lots of bullocks and heifers £25 to £17 (59/- to 54/-), younger classes £16 to £8.

STOCK MARKET REPORTS

DUBLIN EXCHANGE

Markets were only moderately busy on the Dublin Stock Exchange yesterday, but Irish securities, for the most part, maintained a steady appearance. British Industrials showed little life, and closed on a dull note.

Home Government Funds met with small selling in places, and Financial Agreement Loan drooped 5/- to 109¼, while 3½ p.c. National Security and 4½ p.c. Land Bonds inclined lower. 3½ p.c. War Loan improved to 105⅛.

Banks, where dealt in, held up well; but of Breweries, Guinness Ord. came in sellers and fell 1/- to 92/-. Rails remained quiet, and Great Northern Ord. gave way further to 20.

Cement Ord. rose to 33/9, and Heiy Ord. to 42/-, while a number of other Irish Industrials changed hands at steady levels.

British Industrials were at a standstill, and dull for choice. Imperial Tobaccos were called around 196/-. Burmah Oil Ord. quoted 50/4½. Lever Bros. Ord. 28/-, and United Steel Ord. 21/10½.

WOOL

BRADFORD—It is difficult to place new business in yarns or piece goods. Most firms are already well supplied with orders and are now anxious to know what will be their ration for next rationing period, which commences on July 1st. Owing to increasing cost of production tendency of yarn prices is against the buyer.

LONDON TURNS DULL

The less favourable war news, coupled to profit-taking, caused a reversal of the recent trend on the London Stock Exchange yesterday when most sections suffered from a fit of depression.

Gilt-edged Securities generally held the previous day's gains. Home Rails, however, lost a good deal of the gains registered during the week. Great Western were one of the principal losers, and the Southern issues also suffered.

Leading Equities were on offer, and even recent strong spots like Breweries, Textiles, Stores, and Motors felt the effect of the general depression. Among Breweries, Guinness lost 6d., as did Distillers. Both Marks and Spencers, Woolworth, and Harrods drooped in the Stores' section, and Tobacco Shares, like B.A.T.'s and Imperials, fell away. Elsewhere Dunlops, Enmmies, Wall Paper Def., Brazilian Traction, and Nickels also dropped.

The Mining Market followed the general trend. Blyvoor, West Wits., Western Reefs, and Libanon were all to the bad, but Kaffir Producers held their ground on dividend expectations.

From the beginning, prices in the Oil Share Market moved downward, the news from Russia being the principal factor in the decline. The chief sufferers were Anglo-Iranian, Burmah and Shell, whose prices moved down steadily.

KAFFIR DIVIDENDS

Surprisingly good was the after-hours verdict of Kaffir dealers, when they learned that all except three of eleven mines in the Central Mining-Rand Mines group had maintained their June dividends at the rates declared last December. Even in these three cases exceptional circumstances appear to have applied. General cuts in the Rand June dividends had been forecast owing to the increase in the special war levy from 16 per cent. to 20 per cent., estimated to yield £1,640,000 in a year to the South African Treasury.

The Mines of the Central Mining-Rand Mines group have clearly been able to absorb the new tax without reducing their dividends. This is a hopeful augury for the dividends of the other Kaffir Houses due to be declared within the next week.

PAYMENTS COMPARED

The full list of the Central Mining-Rand Mines group of dividends is given below, with the December, 1941, and June, 1941, payments added for comparison:—

	June, 1941.	December, 1941.	June, 1942.
Rand Mines	4/-	4/-	4/-
City Deep	2/6	2/6	2/6
Cons. Main Reef...	2/6	2/6	2/6
Crown Mines	8/-	7/6	7/-
Durban Deep	1/9	1/9	1/9
East Rand Prop....	1/9	1/9	1/9
Geldenhuis Deep ...	2/-	2/-	1/6
Modder "B"	1/3	1/3	1/-
Modder East	3/6	3/6	3/6
New Modder	1/6	1/3	1/3
Nourse Mines	2/3	2/3	2/3
Rose Deep	2/-	2/-	2/-

Rand Mines is purely a holding company. The maintenance of its dividend at the regular half-yearly 4/- will give particular satisfaction, seeing that the company is itself receiving less on its largest individual holding—namely, 571,750 Crowns.

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Thursday.—The Stock Exchange opened steady. The market was not affected by the war news, and the list in the afternoon was sluggish and uneven. The speculative and investment contingencies apparently ignored the British-Russian line-up, and were inclined to be cautious pending developments.

The close was irregular. Sales totalling 282,000 shares comprised 584 stocks, of which 189 advanced, 198 declined, and 187 remained unchanged.—(Reuter.)

Cunard Steamship.—Payment of dividend on the 6 per Cent. Second Pref. Stock, due to be made on July 1, has been deferred.

Cons. Tea and Lands.—Interim 7½ per cent., making 10 per cent. for year (same).

Sun Chariot Should Win Oaks

HAVING proved so superior to most of her rivals in the 1,000 Guineas, His Majesty's filly, Sun Chariot, has only to be as cool and collected as she was that day to win the New Oaks at Newmarket to-day. Perfect Peace is again likely to be her most dangerous rival. It was a good performance to finish second to Sun Chariot in the Guineas, seeing that she had not previously had a race this season, but Sun Chariot won with the greatest ease. Excuses were made for Afterthought's poor display that day, and she, Sonibai, and Cheerful Anne are expected to do better to-day. East Glen showed that she will stay by the fluent manner in which she accounted for Royal Glory over a mile and a half at Stockton last Saturday, and she and Perfect Peace are the most likely to follow home Sun Chariot. Selections:—

11.0—Lady Sybil. 11.30—Devonian. 12.0—Sir Edward. 12.45—Sun Chariot (nap). 1.20—Easter Parade. 1.50—Nearly. Double—Sun Chariot and Devonian.

Smart Performance By Radiologist

THE lack of transport facilities had a devastating effect on the attendance at the Curragh yesterday, and the crowd must have been the smallest ever. One of the best performances was that of Radiologist, who, shouldering an impost of 1 cwt. 5lb., won the mile handicap, beating, among others, the well-backed Mill Boy. Mr. H. M. Hartigan, who on the first day saddled two winners, again had his quota with Lonnane and Sardabee. Conyngham Lodge stable had hopes of winning the Kildare Plate with Tayanglet, but Mr. McGrath's colt never looked like getting on terms with Dulahorne. Mr. J. Rivers, owner of the Baldoyle winner, Knee High, won the Waterford Plate in easy style, G. Cooney sending him into a long lead at the start which he never relinquished. The Newbridge Plate was won by Major D. McCalmont's Carlist, who had run only once previously. Details:—
